

Collecting the Wisdom of the Crowd!

An (almost) FREE 2 Day Workshop
May 19th & 20th, 2012 (9am-5pm)

A weekend learning lab, providing Occupiers and other social activists with the tools to facilitate conversations on complex issues, using principles of egalitarian leadership, transparency, diversity, and anonymity.

Learn how the business world collects the horizontal wisdom of ALL involved.

Practice facilitation techniques that corporations have been honing for decades, and bring them home to foster synergy and action in YOUR local movement!

CENTER FOR SYSTEMIC LEADERSHIP

Critical Thinking | Complexity Management

FACILITATORS: Jane Lorand is an entrepreneur and teacher and has been working with these facilitation principles for more than 30 years. Jane began as a lawyer, migrated into organizational change, and founded the GreenMBA Program at Dominican University of CA. She also directs the Center for Systemic Leadership at Rudolf Steiner College. Leslie Loy, Assistant Director of the Center and co-founder of WeStrive.org, will be supporting the lab. Leslie spends her days working with youth, developing social enterprises intended to change the world.

REGISTER:
centerforsystemicleadership.org > Events

Numbers are limited, so registration is on a first-come, first-serve basis. We ask for a sliding scale donation to the Center for Systemic Leadership: $10-30 to cover material costs.

QUESTIONS: 916.864.4858
csl@steinercollege.edu

HOUSING: Rudolf Steiner College dorms can be rented for either Friday or Saturday night, or both for $36-52/night! For more information, please contact the housing manager at 916.864.4816.

Rudolf Steiner College
9200 Fair Oaks Blvd
Sacramento, CA 95628